

Maxine Marie Malmstrom Her Children

Maxine Marie Malmstrom died in the arms of her family on June 16, 2019 in Campobello, South Carolina. She leaves her adoring family and dear friends, many who refer to her as Granny Max. She was kind and loving and as a Christian, she was the genuine article. She always put others first and was known for randomly mouthing the words, “I love you” to her family, sometimes when we were doing something wrong. She loved all things nature, including bugs and tiny frog skeletons. She was an AMAZING vegetarian cook and her oatmeal patties and Special K loaf can’t be reproduced. Those who knew her miss her terribly.

Maxine was born Maxine Marie Johnson on November 30, 1933 to Marie and Mac Johnson. She married Richard Malmstrom in 1953. They had eight children – Valerie, Michael (deceased), Lea, Mitchell, Alan, Laurie, Marty, and Merry. She worked full time cleaning houses and offices while husband, Richard, was a truck driver. Richard died on December 25, 2012 in South Carolina.

Daughter, Valerie Edge, lives in Plum City, Wisconsin. Michael Malmstrom died unexpectedly in Florida on March 17, 2003. Lea Bryan lives in Old Hickory, Tennessee. Mitchel Malmstrom and wife, Annie, live in Orlando, Florida. Alan Malmstrom lives in Campobello, South Carolina. Laurie Malmstrom and husband, Cameron Cole, live in Campobello, South Carolina. Marty Malmstrom and wife, Panusa, live in Campobello, South Carolina. Merry “Jae” Malmstrom lives in Inman, south Carolina. Maxine leaves behind 20 grandchildren, 16 great grandchildren, and many nieces and nephews. She leaves behind a sister, Joann Schlegal, from Milton, Iowa; and two brothers, Marty Johnson and wife, Marilyn, from Columbus, Georgia; and Ralph “Lee” Johnson, from Geneseo, Illinois. She also leaves five sister-in-laws: Pat Brandmeyer; Nancy Passini; Merry Noah and husband, Frank; Joann Hubbard; and Becky Miner and husband, Dan.

Maxine asked that there be no funeral or memorial service, but a celebration of her life at a lake on family property in South Carolina to be announced at a later date. Donations may be made in her name to her favorite charity at ADRA.org.

The New Colossus

By Emma Lazarus

Not like the brazen giant of Greek fame,
 With conquering limbs astride from land to land;
 Here at our sea-washed, sunset gates shall stand
 A mighty woman with a torch, whose flame
 Is the imprisoned lightning, and her name
 MOTHER OF EXILES. From her beacon-hand
 Glows world-wide welcome; her mild eyes command
 The air-bridged harbor that twin cities frame.

“Keep, ancient lands, your storied pomp!” cries she
 With silent lips. “Give me your tired, your poor,
 Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free,
 The wretched refuse of your teeming shore.
 Send these, the homeless, tempest-tost to me,
 I lift my lamp beside the golden door!”

“Earthly pleasures vainly call me; I would be like Jesus.
 Nothing worldly shall enthrall me; I would be like Jesus.
 Be like Jesus, this my song,
 In the home and in the throng;
 Be like Jesus, all day long!
 I would be like Jesus.
 That in heaven He may meet me; I would be like Jesus.
 That His words ‘Well done’ may greet me; I would be like Jesus.”

Diluting the Gospel with External Viewpoints;
Series Part 4 – The Philosophers Apostle Paul met in Athens

Ancient Greek philosophers used the term Logos in many different ways. Aristotle, for example, uses Logos as one of the three categories for making a persuasion appeal – Ethos, Pathos, and Logos. Aristotle suggests that a good speech should contain the three elements: Ethos - appealing to the moral aspect of the person (the word ethics comes from ethos); Pathos - appealing to the emotional aspect (the word pathetic comes from pathos); Logos - appealing to the logical aspect (the word logic comes from logos). The impact of logos on the audience is sometimes called the argument's logical appeal. We can use this technique to persuade our audience; that the ideas we present are valid or more valid than someone else's.

Ethos (credibility) - stands for the character of the author and is called the Ethical Appeal. It is convincing the audience that the presenter is likable and worthy of listening. Ethos answers the questions about the trustworthiness of the presenter or his/her reputation and it exists independently of the message presented. For example, a person who has personal warmth is more likely to persuade us. It is suggested from experts that if you plan to use "I" in your discourse, you should at least attach little phrase in front of it. Example, "as the Elder of the Church, I advise you..." or "As a car mechanic, I recommend you..." Using "I", without the other "phrase" attempting to build your credibility for ethos into the mind of your audience, could lead to disaster. It could just create a sense of the generic nobody. Please note: every personal thing that the presenter brings to the discussion eventually will work against or in favor of building his credibility in the minds of the listeners.

Pathos (emotion) - stands for persuading by appealing to the person's emotions and is called the Emotional Appeal. It triggers the sympathies and the imagination of the audience. Pathos gives the opportunity to the speaker to emotionally connect to the audience. It could make the listeners (with their imagination) feel pain or happiness along with the presenter. How this can be achieved? One way to do this is by giving a story. Please note that the story is usually given with the intention to turn off the logic! Once this is achieved, the story becomes something palpable and present. The values and beliefs of the presenter are carried imaginatively and emotionally with the story. Looking from the point of view of the listeners - once they get into that emotional mood, they become trapped, their judgment corrupted, and they could become mindless of the concepts and consequences which has been presented. In other words, they could become victims, depending on the mercy of the presenter's ethical and moral values. No wonder, because of the "manipulating power" that carries, many scholars over the centuries have considered Pathos the strongest of the appeals. Usually, people like presenters that flatter them; particularly if the listeners identify themselves with the image being created. Who does not want to be that sensible and caring person being described in the story? If the presenter wants the listener to assess something negatively, he may try to awaken their anger. Remember how Nathan approached David. In 2 Samuel 12:5 we read, "And David's anger was greatly kindled against the man". If somebody has received benefits without deserving them, what do we feel? We feel anger towards him. David felt the same. Then, in verse 7, Nathan said to David, "Thou art the man". This approach produced enormous repenting effect on David.

Diluting the Gospel ~ 4

Logos (logic) - stands for persuading by logical reasoning and it is often called the Logical Appeal. Aristotle believed that Logos should be the core of the persuasion appeal and the presenter should focus on this the most. This statement cannot be emphasized enough. We can divide Logos into two – inductive and deductive. The inductive logic is done by giving the audience several similar examples and then forming a general proposition from them. The logic here is pretty simple - often leading to the "there you go conclusion". Deductive logic is done by giving the audience a few general propositions and then drawing from them a specific "new truth". This leads to a statement like "because such-and-such is true and such-and-such is true" then "we should agree on this other thing". The main points of Logos are: internal consistency of the message, clarity of the claim, and the effectiveness of the supporting evidences.

These three techniques are used by many experienced speakers and leaders today. Here is a simple example to illustrate them: Ethos – "The doctor told me that I have to take Paracetamol to reduce my fever." This sentence speaks about the authority and respect of the doctor. The doctor can be trusted. Pathos – "If you do not take this medicine (Paracetamol) you may die." This brings the emotion into action; it pulls the string of fear. Logos – "For over 100 years it was clinically proven and tested, in USA and Europe, that Paracetamol is the most effective drug for fighting pain and fever." Here is when the logic comes into place "it has been proven and tested". Then it is logical.

A well designed billboard, for example, should contain these three elements. In this case, it could be a mixture of pictures, words, colors, and other - but all three will speak to you at the same time and you'll wonder - what makes you get off that "road exit" for a "good" or "wrong" reason? The first thing we observe when we stand in front of a speaker is to evaluate him/her from an ethical point of view - the way he/she dresses, his/her credentials, his/her morals. Can we trust him/her? The second is the emotional aspect. Is he/she relating to us, to our problems? Is he/she distant and cold? Finally – the logic. Does his/her thesis make sense? Is it sound and clear? At the end, the balance of all these three leads us to fall in love and accept, or reject what was presented. As an example, countless votes had been cast, during the election time, for the candidates who master and balance those three. Later in our discussions we will put to the test Pope Francis's speech about the Big Bang and Evolution theories in front of the audience of the Pontifical Academy of Sciences. We may be surprised how well he scores on the Ethos, Pathos, and Logos test (the Aristotle's test) for judging a persuasion appeal. We may discover how well he pulls these three strings, like a well-trained harp player, to convey the audience into his adventure.

The Cross is My Statue of Liberty
By Neil Enloe

In New York Harbor, stands a lady,
With a torch raised to the sky;
And all who see her, know she stands for
Liberty for you and me.

I'm so proud to be called an American,
To be named with the brave and the free;
I will honor our flag
and our trust in God,
And the Statue of Liberty.

On lonely Golgotha, stood a cross,
With my Lord raised to the sky;
And all who kneel there, live forever
As all the saved can testify.

I'm so glad to be called a Christian,
To be named with the ransomed and whole;
As the statue liberates the citizen,
So the cross liberates the soul.

Oh the cross is my Statue of Liberty,
It was there that my soul was set free;
Unashamed I'll proclaim that a rugged cross
Is my Statue of Liberty!

Share Thy Bread

Wanangwa Hartwell

Hello, friends! Share Thy Bread needs your help! We are serving more than 100 households and we would appreciate your donations of the following items:

- Boxed cereal
- Boxed foods like entrees, especially nonperishable
- Crackers, cookies and/or chips
- Instant anything (hot cereal, etc.)

We also have some supply needs. If you can provide any of the following items, please contact Wanangwa, 828-817-0251, for details on what is needed.

- Clipboards, paper and/or pens
- Paper bags for fresh produce
- Cleaning supplies

As always, if you would like to help with our pickups or deliveries, please contact Wanangwa or Bev. Thank you!

Adventurers

Sara Wolff

The Tryon Adventurer Club had a wonderful year learning how we can make a joyful noise unto the Lord. At every meeting, the kids learned about a different musical instrument, and we wish to thank everyone who came and shared their instruments with us.

As always, the highlight of the year was Fun Day, but because of sickness and weddings, we did not have 80% attendance that day.

We can't wait for next year! Registration will be at the beginning of September. If your child would like to be part of Adventurers, or if you have any questions, please let Sara Wolff know, 980-229-5186.

Chimes for the Kids

Wanangwa Hartwell

Progress report! We now have almost $1,500.00 in the bell fund! Remember we need $2,000.00 in order to purchase chimes for our school. If you wish to contribute, please mark your offering envelope "Bell Fund."

Thank you for giving – our kids will be blessed!

Thrift Store

Karen Sparks

The Thrift Store is getting more donations than ever before, and we are truly blessed by you and our neighborhood. We have asked for more volunteers, and the neighborhood has responded. Three lovely ladies from the neighborhood are now working with us, and they are such a blessing! In addition, our own Mattie Painter has joined us to help during the summer, and she is doing a great job! She has worked with us before and already knew what to do. Donations of home goods need to be looked after for the new store, which we are excited about. Also, each day our changeover clothes need to be sorted, so if you are interested, there is plenty to do, and we still have openings.

July 5 will be the beginning of our Yard Sale because both of our containers are full! Starting June 30 through July 3 we really need help emptying boxes and sorting donations on the tables before the sale.

Thank you, everyone. We will see you at the Thrift Store or the Yard Sale, and many blessings to you all.

Mary and Martha

Spartanburg

Mary and Martha Yard Sale helps fund outreach ministry that provides household furniture and useful household items for refugees arriving from several countries. These refugees have chosen South Carolina to start their new life and we feel so privileged to be able to minister to them and serve them in a way few people have the opportunity to do. We also assist individuals referred to us who have been displaced by disasters.

Our Yard Sale will start June 30 and end July 4. We have gathered donated items from the surrounding communities, through house cleanouts, referrals from World Relief, Red Cross, Spartanburg SDA Church, our Board Members and friends of Mary and Martha Services. We have accumulated a semi trailer full of miscellaneous items in a 12 month period and are scheduled to use the Stuttler Gym as our sales venue.

For more information about Mary and Martha Services you can go to our Website: maryandmarthaservices.com. Also, you may wish to contact Lynn Young – Spartanburg church Secretary or Pastor Don Davis to confirmation who we are and our partnership with our church.

Thanks, Marcia Trott

Our Missionaries

Trey & Vicky

Answered prayer is a wonderful thing. We have solicited your prayers on behalf of this new teacher friend of ours. She invited us to her house for dinner where she asked if we would pray for the meal. This is the first time anyone has ever asked us to pray after just meeting them. Then we moved into religious conversation covering topics such as what is an SDA, why do you choose the diet you have, and more. They are also vegetarian and were very curious when we began to share from the Bible morally, as well as from a health standpoint, our various reasons. She then told us how she reads from the Bible and showed us the New Testament she had in her own language and explained how she likes to read the King James version in English. God has been working on these hearts and now has permitted us to join Him. Praise God for this answer to prayer and please continue to lift this couple up.

Tryon Seventh-day Adventist Church

Journal

July, 2019

Are You Jesus Author Unknown

A few years ago, a group of salesmen were getting ready to fly to Chicago for a regional sales convention there. They were running a little late, and as they hurried through the terminal with tickets and brief cases in hand, one of the salesmen accidentally kicked over a small stand which held a display of apples, causing the apples to fly everywhere!

Without stopping or looking back, all the salesmen managed to board their plane in time. That is, all of them except one. He paused and took a deep breath, experiencing a twinge of compassion for the girl whose apple stand had been overturned. He said to his buddies, "You guys go on. I'll get a later flight." Then, he returned to the terminal where the apples were still all over the floor, and he was glad he did.

The teen-age girl selling the apples was totally blind! Tears ran down her cheeks in frustration while she helplessly groped for her spilled apples. As the crowd of travelers swirled about her, no one stopped, and no one cared about what had happened to her. While the salesman knelt on the floor with her, he gathered up the apples, put them back on the stand, then helped organize her display. As he did this, he noticed that many of the apples had become quite bruised. He set those aside in another basket.

When he had finished separating the apples, he pulled out his wallet and said to the girl, "I'm so sorry I knocked over your apples. I hope I didn't entirely ruin your day. Here, please take this. It's $40 for the damage I caused. I have to go now, to catch another plane." As the salesman started to walk away, the bewildered blind girl called out to him, "Wait, Mister!" He paused and turned to look back. Then she continued, "Are you ---- Jesus?"

He stopped, then slowly made his way to board another flight with that question burning in his soul: "Are you Jesus?"

Do people mistake you and me for Jesus? That's our destiny, is it not? Knowing Him is more than simply quoting Scripture and going to church. As life unfolds each day, it's actually "living" like Him. Even though we too have been bruised by the fall of man, we are still the APPLE of His eye. Jesus stopped what He was doing, and then on a hill called Calvary, He paid for our damaged fruit -- in full.

Lampyridae

Wanangwa Hartwell

Bugs of the family Lampyridae are special little insects that can produce light with chemicals in their bodies. This chemical reaction is called bioluminescence. Different individuals produce different types and amounts of light – some yellow, some green, some red. They use the light to communicate.

When I was growing up, I would catch fireflies, as we called them, then let them go and wait for them to blink “goodbye” to me. That is still the first signal to me that it is summer – when I can catch a firefly. Some people call them lightning bugs. Some call them glowworms, even though they are not worms at all. What do you call them?
