Pastor Bob's Blog

Have you noticed the chill in the air, the change of daylight hours, the goldenrod blossoms, even the leaves on the trees?

During this season the foliage changes, the weather changes, the time changes. Birds make their journey south, squirrels store up their nuts, many of the large animals began to prepare for a time of hibernation. With incredible consistency nature speaks, acting out their individual pageantry without external instruction or even a script to follow.

Quietly without a lot of hoopla, God graciously moves upon our lives as well, taking us from summer into autumn season, where he mysteriously writes his agenda on our hearts. Patiently he waits for the change to begin and without exception it does.

Autumn is upon us bringing the time of reflection, a time to gain a new perspective, to stroll along the back roads of our minds and to think about what. And where. And why. To evaluate maybe the way we were and then to establish maybe what we want to be.

In Philippians 1:6, God shares that He began the work and will finish the work. At the root of God's agenda is the promise that he would not leave us unfinished. God won't get an incomplete, neither will he fail.

The autumn season of your life may be uncomfortable. Times change and things change. Perhaps you're grieving over a recent loss, maybe you're lonely, maybe hungry, maybe cold. Maybe you just feel anxious about those ugly clouds on the horizon that indicate an ominous tomorrow. It seems as though the winds of adversity are lifting you up and uncertainty fills your heart.

If autumn, the season of reflection, has come, expect your roots to deepen, because roots grow deep when the winds are strong. You can count on it, yet be assured of this, the Lord specializes in roots. He plans to deepen you and strengthen you. But he won't overdo it. He is sovereignly and compassionately at work. We are more impressed with the fruit but not God, he watches the roots. We like the product. But he emphasizes the process.

And painful though it may be, he who began ... will keep right on ... until his work ... is finished. So we can boldly declare, "come wind, come weather, welcome autumn."

May you gain strength and encouragement with these "autumn" thoughts.

Nature Nugget -- October

Wanangwa Hartwell

"The end of the summer is not the end of the world. Here's to October..." — A.A. Milne

Octagon, octet, October... Why does the 10th month of the year have the number 8 in the title? October was actually the 8th month of the old calendar...and by old, I mean ancient Rome.

"I'm so glad I live in a world where there are Octobers." — L. M. Montgomery

October is that time of year when the leaves really start changing and the temperatures really start cooling...unless you're in the southern hemisphere, where October actually marks the beginning of spring!

"October is the opal month of the year. It is the month of glory, of ripeness. It is the picture-month." — Henry Ward Beecher

Opal is actually the birthstone for October, along with tourmaline. The flower of the month is the calendula, in the marigold family.

"Wild is the music of the autumnal winds amongst the faded woods." — William Wordsworth

October always reminds me of a favorite song in the youth book He Is Our Song:

*Brown is the color of the autumn leaves,
When the winter comes to the barren trees,
There is life, there is death, there is a plan,
And there's just one God and there's just one Man,
Who can give us life,
Who can make us grow,
Who can make our sins as white as snow.*

Marty & Wendy Logue

When Marty & Wendy were interviewed for this article on September 17, it was their 44th wedding anniversary. Marty & Wendy met at Indiana Academy in Cicero, Indiana. They started dating in their senior year so they are truly senior sweethearts. Their relationship grew as they got to know one another better especially on their Senior Trip to Cades Cove, TN. After graduating, they both attended Southern University where Wendy got her 2-year nursing degree and Marty started working on an accounting degree which he finished several years later. They dated at Southern for two years before getting married in 1978. Besides Wendy's AS degree in Nursing from Southern, she went on to get her BS in Nursing from Andrews University, and later a Masters in Business Administration as well as a Masters in Management of Information Systems at Benedictine University in Chicago. Eventually Marty received a BS degree in computer sciences in 2004 from Gardner-Webb University. He had already been in computers for 20 plus years at that point.

After getting married they lived in Hinsdale, IL, a suburb of Chicago where Wendy worked at Hinsdale hospital in the ICU. Marty started his computer career at Hinsdale hospital and went on to work at CNA Insurance and for IBM at the Kennedy Space Center. He started as a computer programmer, then worked with designing database systems. He moved on to S&C Electric and reengineered their network. In all they lived in the Chicago area for 20 years.

They came to North Carolina in 2000 where Wendy's family lived, her sister lives in Hendersonville. Her mother lived with them for about 14 years before she died in 2011. Marty's Dad lived with them for about 10 years until he died early in 2020. They attended the Shelby SDA Church from 2012 – 2018. Shortly after they started helping with the care of their great nephew (Logan) and great niece (Nivia) during the week, they began looking for a Seventh-day Adventist School for the children to attend. Thus, they found their way to our church school and church.

Wendy has worked at Gardner-Webb University for the last two years as the Nursing Simulation Lab Coordinator. She coordinates simulation training for all undergraduate nursing students. Before that she worked for Cleveland County Hospital in Shelby where she managed their ICU Department and code team.

They found the best of both worlds coming to Tryon, being blessed with a school for the kids that teaches Christian values and a church that involves the kids in worship.

When asked what a typical day was for Wendy and Marty, Wendy works at GWU. Marty, who is retired, brings the two kids to school and then volunteers as the church secretary. Also, they both help out in our AV department. Logan and Nivea stay with them four nights a week during the school week. They usually arrive home around 4:00 pm and have dinner together as a family with Logan's dad, Richard, before he goes to work on the night shift. That is followed by kids activities and ends with Sabbath School lessons and bedtime stories.

Wendy enjoys studying Ellen G. White's writings; she believes EGW is an inspired prophetess of God. Marty is currently working his way through the 40 Days of Prayer books. His favorite Bible verse is Gal 5:22-23 which lists the fruit of the Spirit. Wendy loves Matt. 19:26, "But Jesus beheld them, and said unto them, with men this is impossible; but with God all things are possible." She said that she is an eternal optimist! Their weekly date night is coming to prayer meeting on Wednesday nights.

What an asset this couple is to our church; we are blessed to have both with so many talents & skills to help the work go forward!

Making a difference in people's lives and impacting them for eternity

Praise the Lord! He gave us a van for Share Thy Bread and we are in the process of getting the van and room outfitted with all the necessary items for beginning the Healthy Opportunities Pilot (HOP). We have completed our training and should be in full swing within the next few weeks. Thanks to all the volunteers who have helped get this going and especially to those who will be driving the van and meeting our community neighbors in need right in their own homes.

Another praise we had involves our wonderful farm partner, Charlene's Garden. They have provided us with excellent produce for the past few years. We have to provide produce for the HOP boxes and Jeff Searcy from Charlene's Garden offered to help. He provided costs for the various items, proposed sample boxes, and will coordinate with us to make sure we have everything we need. God is so good!

Please continue to pray for Share Thy Bread and if you feel impressed to give financially or of your time, we greatly appreciate it. Right now we are in a tight place between grant deadlines, hoping for funds to continue some projects, especially the ongoing produce. It is harvest time in the South, but funds are running low so if you wish to give, please place your donation in a tithe envelope and mark it Share Thy Bread, or indicate Share Thy Bread using Online Giving.

Thank you for your prayers and support. We are always asking great things of God and praising Him for his guidance and provision for our community. Remember, we (you and I) are His hands, His feet, His voice. God bless you!

Yard Sale Rejects

Terry Robinson

I enjoy going to yard sales. At times I'll pick up an item and look it over, then put it back down, saying to myself, "Nah, I don't think so!" And sometimes people do the same thing when reading the Bible --- choosing what sounds pleasing to us or what we find easy to put into practice. However, when we read something that we definitely DO NOT wish to do, we wrinkle our noses and say, "Nah, I don't think so!"

Considering the sinful state human beings are in, Christ very well could have looked at us as a bunch of "yard sale rejects" and said, "Nah, I don't think so!" I'm so glad He didn't.

Literature Room

Wanangwa Hartwell

Do you believe that we should be spreading our literature like autumn leaves? Let those leaves be your reminder now. Our literature room is full of books, pamphlets and tracts to be handed out to anyone who has an ear to hear. I encourage you to take a look -- I don't believe in locking the door of a room full of free items.

Let me know if there's something missing that you need on hand -- I have a budget for sharing literature. You should know that I already have Desire of Ages and the Spanish language Great Controversy on backorder with the ACBC.

Please also take advantage of the "Free Books" box in the church lobby. I frequently get donations of books that are more appropriate for an Adventist audience than for giving away so I put them out there for those of you who wish to enhance your own collections. Enjoy and may God bless you as you read and share His message.

Ramona doesn't pass out recipes often. You better hang onto these.

Falafel

From Ramona's Kitchen

15 oz. garbanzo beans
½ C parsley (chopped)
1 onion (chopped)
2 cloves garlic (minced)
2 tsp. cumin
1 tsp. coriander
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. baking powder
Pinch cayenne pepper
1 tsp. lemon juice
1 Tbs. olive oil
¾ C dry bread crumbs
2 eggs / egg replacer

Drain garbanzo beans, reserve liquid to use if needed for the proper consistency. In a food processor grind garbanzo beans and add all other ingredients and continue to process until the consistency is like coarse peanut butter.

Take a small round ball, place in a sauté pan with small amount of olive oil, flatten to make a small patty and fry until browned. Turn and brown the other side. OR place on nonstick pan, flatten to make a small patty and bake in oven at 400F for 25 min.

For a great sandwich: open a pita half (pocket bread) place 2-3 falafel patties inside, add tomato, cucumber, lettuce or sprouts, onion, avocado, and any other fresh veggies you may have. Top with favorite dressing (ranch, cucumber, etc.) and enjoy.

Tzatziki

From Ramona's Kitchen
(Greek Yogurt/Cucumber Dressing)
*(Makes about 3 1/2 cups.)

3 cups Greek Yogurt (or regular plain yogurt, strained)
juice of one lemon (about 3 T)
1 garlic clove, chopped
2 medium cucumbers, seeded and diced
about 1 T kosher salt for salting cucumbers
1 T finely chopped fresh dill (can substitute mint leaves)
Kosher salt and fresh ground black pepper to taste

Peel cucumbers, then cut in half lengthwise and take a small spoon and scrape out seeds. Discard seeds. Slice cucumbers, then put in a colander, sprinkle on 1 T salt, and let stand for 30 minutes to draw out water. Drain well and wipe dry with paper towel.

In food processor with steel blade, add cucumbers, garlic, lemon juice, dill, and a few grinds of black pepper. Process until well blended, then stir this mixture into the yogurt. Taste before adding any extra salt, then salt if needed. Place in refrigerator for at least two hours before serving so flavors can blend. (This resting time is very important.)

This will keep for a few days or more in the refrigerator, but you will need to drain off any water and stir each time you use it.

3ABN Camp Meeting

Bev Cook

September 22 - 25 was the best camp meeting ever at 3ABN in Thompsonville, IL. From start to finish, we were spiritually fed with outstanding talks and music exalting our Lord. We so wish you could have been there. Besides myself, Candy Justice, MJ Foster, Mark & Debbie Balvin, Wally McDaniel & Terry Bantz, and LeNoy & Judy Kyzer attended from our church. The same love and warmth we experience here at Tryon could be sensed at the Thompsonville SDA Church where the meetings were held. The long weekend theme was Overcoming In Christ. Some of the speakers were Whintley Phipps, David Shin, John Lomacang, James Rafferty, Jill Morikone, John Dinzey, Shelley Quinn, Danny & Kenny Shelton, and others. 3ABN provided food for two meals per day plus a camp fire on Saturday night. There were ministries represented at booths to browse through and a wide variety of books, DVDs, etc. The weather couldn't have been more perfect. Our loving God covered all the details for us. As we drove home, we discussed among ourselves how Jesus blessed us so abundantly and our only question was, "When is the next 3ABN camp meeting?" When we find out, we'll let you know.

Believe the Impossible

Dick Bayley

A believer today, and that's what the Russians call Christians, "believers," (veruyushchie), ... a believer today, can take great satisfaction in knowing that he/she accepts as actual fact the many accounts of amazing and supernatural events described in the Holy Bible. For starters, we think of Moses leading the Israelites through the Red Sea (Exodus 14:21-22). How about Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah in the fiery furnace (Daniel 3:20)? Samson slaying 1,000 Philistine soldiers with the jawbone of a donkey (Judges 15:15)? Or Balaam's donkey protesting her mistreatment (Numbers 22:28)?

For me, the most incredible event, if I weren't a "believer," would be the backward moving sun described in 2 Kings 20:11, when Isaiah asked the Lord to move the shadow on the sundial backward. Nevertheless, I have read that the most commonly disputed Bible story is that of Jonah and the whale, described in the book of Jonah, called "...the greatest missionary book of the Old Testament" in the Andrews Study Bible.

In the familiar story, Jonah was called to walk the streets of Ninevah, one of the wickedest of cities, proclaiming their imminent destruction unless they forsook the rampant idolatry, apostasy, immorality, and every sort of corruption that flourished in the city (Nahum 3:1). So far had evil progressed in Ninevah, and so far had its evil reputation spread, that Jonah couldn't picture himself going there to warn the cruel Assyrians. "Hopeless case," he thought, so he took passage on a ship bound for Tarshish, definitely the wrong direction for Ninevah!

As the ship sailed from Joppa, Jonah wasn't thinking about God's power to sustain and protect him, just his own discouragement, and fearfulness of the task he had been given. Even being swallowed by a whale during the voyage, and being kept in that terrible confinement for three days and three nights didn't alter his mood. Once he had preached God's warning about the city, and the people repented, Jonah still had an attitude problem, to say the least. A person would think that having been deposited safely on the shore by the whale, Jonah would have experienced a major change.

Going back to the Andrews Study Bible, "The problem brought to view in the book of Jonah is the reluctance and unfaithfulness of God's called missionary. ... We are presented with the irony of a very gracious God who has a very ungracious prophet/messenger. The clear appeal of the book is for people to revise their picture of God and the world. God's plan, mission, and love are extremely broad and call into question all human prejudice and pre-conceived ideas" (p. 1177).

And speaking of pre-conceived ideas, let's remember the case of the seaman of the late 1800's, James Bartley, serving on a whaling ship near the Falkland Islands, known as Las Malvinas among Argentinians. According to reports, the man was swallowed by a whale after his small boat was capsized, only to be discovered alive two days later inside the whale, while it was being slaughtered on board the ship. This story too was disputed. In fact the captain's wife said it never happened, although the man himself claimed it was true till the day he died. This demonstrates, again, that everyone interprets his or her experience through a "filter" that allows some ideas and rejects others.

So again, we may also keep in view other Biblical events, as mentioned earlier. I like the succinct way the Seventh-Day Adventist Bible Dictionary deals with Jonah's story, "...the question is not whether Jonah's experience can be demonstrated on a scientific basis, but whether God ever acts in supernatural ways to accomplish His purposes. For those who accept Jesus Christ as the Son of God, our Lord's simple declaration that the prophet 'was three days and three nights in the whale's belly' (Mt. 12:39,40) is sufficient documentation of the miracle" (Book of Jonah, p. 613).

The same principle applies to Ezekiel's confrontation with the valley of bones, when he heard a rattling, and before his eyes, an army was recreated. It is remembered in the traditional spiritual:

"Ezekiel cried dem dry bones,
Ezekiel connected dem dry bones,
Now I hear the word of the Lord."

For many years this was the traditional location of Jonah's tomb in Mosul, Iraq, formerly Ninevah. Remarkably, the tomb was revered by Muslims and Jews, as well as Christians until it was destroyed about eight years ago by members of the Islamic State.
